ABSTRACT

Dovetail Cultural Resource Group (Dovetail), as part of the DC2RVA Project Team, and on behalf of the Virginia Department of Rail and Public Transportation (DRPT), conducted a reconnaissance-level architectural survey of the Preferred Alternative of the Washington, D.C. to Richmond Southeast High Speed Rail (DC2RVA) project (the Project). The Project is being completed under the auspices of the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) in conjunction with DRPT. Because of FRA's involvement, the undertaking is required to comply with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended. The project is being completed as Virginia Department of Historic Resources (DHR) File Review #2014-0666.

From 2014 through 2017, the DC2RVA team conducted architectural reconnaissance studies on all Project alternatives inclusive of the areas within 500 feet of the centerline of each alternative corridor (also defined as the area of potential effects [APE]), resulting in the recordation of thousands of architectural resources. Since these studies, engineering associated with the development of the Project alternatives has resulted in a slightly expanded limit of disturbance (LOD) to accommodate road modifications, straightening curves, proposed station locations, parking areas, etc. The expanded LOD areas were not included in the original architectural study.

This report details buildings, objects, structures, and districts over 48 years of age within the LOD expansion APE (the date was designed to correspond to the schedule of the environmental document). In total, the DC2RVA Project Team surveyed 352 historic architectural resources – 124 previously recorded and 228 newly recorded properties. Two resources were previously listed in the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP), and it is recommended that both remain listed: Rippon Lodge (076-0023) and the Town of Barton Heights Historic District (127-0816). Another 11 properties are recommended potentially eligible for the NRHP based on the current survey: East Rosemont Historic District (100-5341), Chancellor House (111-0013/111-0132-0508), Hackley-Monroe House/James Monroe House/Joseph Jones House (111-0038/111-0132-0509), Dr. Charles Mortimer House at 213 Caroline Street (111-0067/111-0132-0505), the 1770 House (111-0132-0126), Shiloh Baptist Church (New Site) (111-0132-0147), Robert Adams Residence (111-0132-0458), Loving's Produce Company (127-0344-0102), Philip Morris Operations Complex (127-5818), Gilpin Court Apartment Complex (127-6883), and Hanover County School Board (166-5073-0024). One resource, Hoopers (042-0556), was not accessible during the current survey; it is recommended that further study be completed to determine eligibility.

The remaining 338 resources are recommended not individually eligible for the NRHP, although 126 of these properties are recommended to be contributing elements to surrounding historic districts: Rosemont Historic District (100-0137), East Rosemont Historic District (100-5341), Boundary Markers of the Original District of Columbia (000-0022), Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132), Berkleytown Historic District (166-5073), Laurel Industrial School Historic District (043-0292), Town of Barton Heights Historic District (127-0816), Seaboard Air Line Railroad Corridor (127-5271), and Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad (500-0001).

1 INTRODUCTION

Dovetail Cultural Resource Group (Dovetail), as part of the DC2RVA Project Team, and on behalf of the Virginia Department of Rail and Public Transportation (DRPT), conducted a reconnaissance-level architectural survey of additional segments within the Preferred Alternative of the Washington, D.C. to Richmond Southeast High Speed Rail (DC2RVA) project. The project is being completed as Virginia Department of Historic Resources (DHR) File #2014-0666.

The Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) and DRPT propose passenger rail service and rail infrastructure improvements in the north-south travel corridor between Washington, D.C. and Richmond, VA. These passenger rail service and rail infrastructure improvements are collectively known as the DC2RVA project. The Project will deliver higher speed passenger rail service, increase passenger and freight rail capacity, and improve passenger rail service frequency and reliability in a corridor shared by growing volumes of passenger, commuter, and freight rail traffic, thereby providing a competitive option for travelers going between Washington, D.C. and Richmond and those traveling to and from adjacent connecting corridors. The Project is part of the larger Southeast High Speed Rail (SEHSR) corridor (Figure 1-1), which extends from Washington, D.C. through Richmond, VA, and from Richmond continues east to Hampton Roads (Norfolk), VA, and south to Raleigh, NC, and Charlotte, NC, and then continues west to Atlanta and south to Florida. The Project connects to the National Railroad Passenger Corporation (Amtrak) Northeast Corridor (NEC) at Union Station in Washington, D.C.

The purpose of the SEHSR program, as stated in the 2002 Tier I Final Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) completed for the full SEHSR corridor, is to provide a competitive transportation choice to travelers within the Washington, D.C. to Charlotte, NC, travel corridor. The purpose of the current Washington, D.C. to Richmond SEHSR project described here is to fulfill the purpose of the SEHSR Tier I EIS within this segment of the larger SEHSR corridor. The Project, by increasing rail capacity and improving travel times between Washington, D.C. and Richmond, will improve passenger train performance and reliability in the corridor, enabling intercity passenger rail to be a competitive transportation choice for travelers between Washington, D.C., Richmond, and beyond.

Given FRA's funding involvement and permitting through various other federal agencies, the DC2RVA project is required to comply with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended, and its implementing regulations under 36CFR800. Additionally, all cultural resource work was designed to comply with the Virginia Antiquities Act (Code of Virginia § 10.1-2300) and guidelines and regulations promulgated by the DHR, as necessary.

1.1 PROJECT LOCATION

The DC2RVA Team outlined the Build Alternatives, including the Preferred Alternative, for this project in the Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS), which was signed by the FRA in September 2017. The Preferred Alternative was approved by the Commonwealth Transportation Board in December 2017 and spans 123 miles along an existing rail corridor owned by CSX Transportation (CSXT) between Control Point RO (milepost [MP] CFP 110) in Arlington, VA, to the CSXT A-Line and S-Line junction at MP A-11 in Centralia, VA (Chesterfield County) (Figure 1-2). At the northern terminus in Arlington, VA, the Project limit ends at the southern approach to Long Bridge, a double-track rail bridge taking the rail corridor over the Potomac River; however, the northern terminus of Union Station in Washington, D.C. will be used for ridership and revenue forecasting, as well as service development planning within the Project corridor. The southern terminus in Centralia is the junction of two CSXT routes that begin in Richmond and rejoin approximately 11 miles south of the city.

Proposed improvements are along CSXT-owned track, generally parallel to the I-95 corridor between northern Virginia and Richmond. From north to south, the project travels through the following counties and cities:

- Arlington County
- City of Alexandria
- Fairfax County
- Prince William County
- Stafford County
- City of Fredericksburg
- Spotsylvania County
- Caroline County
- Hanover County
- Henrico County
- City of Richmond
- Chesterfield County

In Arlington, the Project connects to existing CSXT track extending across the Potomac River on the Long Bridge into Washington, D.C. and Union Station, the southern terminus of Amtrak's Northeast Corridor (NEC). At Centralia, the Project connects to both the Richmond to Raleigh segment of the SEHSR corridor and the Richmond to Hampton Roads segment of the SEHSR corridor.

The Washington, D.C. to Richmond segment is an integral part of the overall Washington, D.C. to Charlotte SEHSR corridor and provides a critical link between high speed intercity passenger service from Boston to Washington, D.C. and the southeastern United States.

1.2 PROJECT DESCRIPTION

The DC2RVA project will include specific rail infrastructure improvements, proposed road construction, and service upgrades intended to improve the travel time, service frequency, and on-time performance of passenger trains operating between Washington, D.C. and Richmond, VA. Specific improvements to the existing rail infrastructure between Arlington, VA, and Centralia, VA, include:

- Corridor-wide upgrades to existing track and signal systems to achieve higher operating speeds, including curve realignments, higher-speed crossovers between tracks, passing sidings, and grade crossing improvements.
- Corridor-wide improvements to train operating capacity to achieve higher passenger train service frequency and reliability, including an additional main track along most of the corridor, and additional controlled sidings, crossovers, yard bypasses and leads, and other capacity and reliability improvements at certain locations.
- Station and platform improvements for Amtrak and Virginia Railway Express (VRE) stations.

The Tier II EIS being completed for the Project will assess the environmental impacts of these improvements and identify ways to avoid, minimize, or otherwise mitigate such impacts. The Project may include locations for new or replacement intercity passenger stations on the Project corridor, and additional rail capacity and other improvements in the Richmond area, including on the CSXT Peninsula Subdivision from AM Junction in Richmond, VA (just north of Main Street Station), east to Beulah Road in Henrico County, and on the bypass areas around the Town of Ashland, VA, and the City of Fredericksburg, VA.

Studies in support of the Project will address passenger and freight rail operations and service between Union Station in Washington, D.C. to Richmond and beyond, but the Project does not include physical improvements to the Long Bridge across the Potomac River or to rail infrastructure within Washington, D.C. Other projects will address improvements to the rail infrastructure north of Arlington and south of Centralia along the SEHSR corridor.

The original architectural reconnaissance study for the DC2RVA project was conducted between 2014 and 2016. This work included recordation of buildings, structures, objects and districts over 48 years in age within all alternatives under consideration (the date was determined to correspond to the schedule for environmental documentation). The area of potential effects (APE) for this work included a 500-foot study corridor from the centerline of each alternative. The APE was expanded to 1,000 feet in areas where an overpass would be constructed as part of the project and was redefined as one city block in urban sectors. As project designs have been refined, the Project limits of disturbance (LOD) have been modified to accommodate various design needs. These include road modifications, straightening curves, the addition of wyes, proposed station locations, parking areas, etc. These expanded LOD areas were not included in the original architectural reconnaissance study. As such, this addendum report includes all areas that are now within the project APE but which were not included in previous investigations.

1.3 PREVIOUS SURVEYS AND CURRENT STUDY

The DC2RVA Team has been conducting reconnaissance-level architectural studies for the entire 123-mile DC2RVA corridor since December 2014. To date, the findings have been detailed in 16 reports. The current study included a reconnaissance architectural survey of LOD expansion areas within the Preferred Alternative of the DC2RVA corridor in any part of the APE that was not included in a previous document. Historic Context and Background Review sections for the overall project corridor are not included, as this information was presented in previous DC2RVA project reports (e.g., Anderson and Staton 2016; Manning et al. 2016; Manning and Salvato 2016; Peckler 2016; Staton et al. 2016a; Staton et al. 2016b; Staton et al. 2016c; Staton and Lesiuk 2015; Sylvester and Staton 2016). The results of the archaeological survey spanning the entire 123-mile corridor are discussed in separate documents.

The current architectural survey was conducted to evaluate previously recorded properties that have not been evaluated for the NRHP as well as any unrecorded resource over 48 years in age. Any property in the APE that has been previously determined to be eligible, or is listed in, the NRHP, was briefly reviewed to assure that the characteristics that rendered the property eligible are still intact. For the purposes of the current study, the APE is defined as the footprint of proposed construction work associated with the Project plus any areas where alterations to a resource's setting and feeling are likely to occur as a result of it. For areas where the Project LOD has been expanded beyond the original study corridor, the APE includes the footprint and an additional 500-foot buffer on either side for new roads, stations, or track modifications, and the footprint plus a 1,000-foot buffer on either side for new overpasses.

2 METHODOLOGY

The architectural survey was conducted to evaluate any historic buildings, objects, or districts over 48 years in age for NRHP eligibility. Each resource was evaluated in regards to Criterion A, for its association with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of our history; Criterion B, for its association with people significant in our nation's history; and Criterion C, for its embodiment of distinctive characteristics of a type, period, or method of construction, or that represent the work of a master, or possess high artistic values. As part of the current survey, these architectural resources were not evaluated under Criterion D for its potential to yield information important in history. Criteria considerations were taken into account only where necessary. In addition, all resources were viewed in light of the seven aspects of integrity: location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, and association.

For previously recorded resources determined eligible for, or listed in, the NRHP within the APE, the DC2RVA team briefly examined these properties to assure that they retain the characteristics that rendered them eligible for the NRHP, but in-depth studies were not completed on these resources.

During the architectural survey of both newly recorded and previously identified resources, the Project APE was surveyed through a combination of a vehicular and pedestrian reconnaissance. Above-ground properties meeting the established age criteria were documented through photographs, written notes, and mapping. This includes buildings, structures, objects, and districts within the Project APE. Digital photos were taken of each property documenting the primary elevation, oblique angles, and general setting.

After the architectural fieldwork was completed, the project team prepared separate Virginia Cultural Resources Information System (V-CRIS) forms and accompanying documentation for each recorded property in accordance with DHR policies and practices. Each V-CRIS packet includes a V-CRIS form, site plan, set of hard-copy color photographs, and a CD of digital photos for each property. The hard copy and electronic versions of the photographs were labeled and prepared according to DHR standards.

3 RESULTS

The architectural investigation of the expanded LOD of the DC2RVA project involved a field survey of any areas that are now in the LOD and Project APE that were not included in previous studies. In total, the team recorded 352 resources, 124 of which were previously recorded with the DHR and 228 were newly recorded as a part of this effort.

3.1 PREVIOUSLY RECORDED RESOURCES

This survey identified 124 previously recorded buildings, structures, objects, and districts within the APE (Table 3-1, Figures 3-1 through 3-16). Two of these resources were previously listed in the NRHP and Virginia Landmarks Registry (VLR), 14 were determined not eligible for listing in the NRHP by the DHR, and the remaining 108 had not been formally evaluated for NRHP eligibility.

There were two previously NRHP/VLR listed resources revisited as part of this project. Rippon Lodge/Blackburn House (076-0023) is located at 15500 Blackburn Road in Woodbridge (Figure 3-17). Although the resource is located outside of the 500-foot APE, it was determined that the resource is visible from the rail crossing at Neabsco Creek to the east (Figure 3-18). As such, the architectural APE was expanded to include this viewshed. Rippon Lodge was listed in the VLR and NRHP in 1971 under Criterion A for its association with the early development of the area and Criterion B for its association with Thomas Blackburn. This resource was revisited during the current study to ascertain if the characteristics that rendered it previously eligible for the NRHP are in place. Based on the current reconnaissance survey, it is recommended that this resource retain its status as a listed property in the VLR and NRHP.

The Town of Barton Heights Historic District (127-0816) was listed in the NRHP in 2003 and the VLR in 2011 under Criterion A for its association with important events in Transportation and Community Planning and Development and Criterion C for its distinctive architecture. This turn-of-the-century, streetcar neighborhood is located in the northern section of the City of Richmond and filled with single- and multi-family dwellings constructed in the Queen Anne or Colonial Revival styles and are similar in scale, materials, massing and setbacks (Figure 3-19). The resource, revisited during the current survey due to its determination being made over five years, is recommended to retain its status as NRHP and VLR listed.

Eight of the 108 previously recorded resources that had not received an eligibility determination are recommended potentially eligible for the VLR/NRHP as a result of this reconnaissance study. Five are in Fredericksburg and three are in Richmond.

The Chancellor House (111-0132-0508) in Fredericksburg is a two-story, four-bay, single-family dwelling built circa 1780 in a Georgian style (Figure 3-20). It is in good condition and has retained its overall character and integrity. For these reasons, it was recommended as potentially eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C in a 2007 survey. The resource has not changed significantly since that assessment, therefore, it is recommended that the house remain potentially eligible under that criterion. Based on the current evaluation, it is also recommended that the resource is potentially eligible under Criteria A and B. This property was owned by George Aler during the second quarter of the nineteenth century, Fredericksburg's most prominent slave dealer. Contemporary accounts describe an associated slave pen immediately north of the dwelling (Barile et al. 2018:3-69-3-83). This resource therefore may have a notable connection to the slave trade in Fredericksburg (Criterion A) and an association with George Aler (Criterion B) with significance at the local level. As an architectural resource, it was not evaluated under Criterion D. The house has been previously identified as a contributing element of the Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132). As it continues to reflect the history of this area and retains a high level of historic integrity, it is recommended to remain a contributing resource within this district.

FIGURE 3-20: CHANCELLOR HOUSE AT 300 CAROLINE STREET (111-0132-0508), NORTH OBLIQUE. THE FORMER SLAVE PEN WAS LOCATED IN FRONT OF THE REAR ADDITION.

The Hackley-Monroe House, also known as the James Monroe House and the Joseph Jones House (111-0038/111-0132-0509), is situated in the southern end of the Fredericksburg Historic District. It is a two-and-one-half-story, late-Georgian-style, parged, single-family dwelling constructed around 1785 (Figure 3-21). Although the resource features some common modifications such as additions, it still retains enough historic integrity to merit eligibility for the NRHP. The house was also occupied by President James Monroe for a short time in the late-1780s. The DC2RVA Team recommends the Hackley-Monroe House as potentially individually eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C as an outstanding example of this period and style of architecture at the local level. It is also recommended to remain a contributing resource within the Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132).

The Dr. Charles Mortimer House (111-0067/111-0132-0505) at 213 Caroline Street in Fredericksburg is a two-story, Federal-style, single-family dwelling constructed in Flemish-bond brick between 1764 and 1780 (Figure 3-22). The building contains a mixture of late Georgian- and early Federal-style elements include modillions in the roof eaves as well as a porch with a full entablature and Ionic columns. The house is associated with Dr. Charles Mortimer, one of Fredericksburg's early prominent citizens. He was a local physician as well as the City's first mayor. The DC2RVA Team recommends the Dr. Charles Mortimer House as potentially individually eligible for the NRHP under Criterion B for its association with Dr. Charles Mortimer and Criterion C as an outstanding example of this period and style of architecture at the local level. It is also recommended to remain a contributing resource within the Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132).

The 1770 House (111-0132-0126), located in the southern end of the Fredericksburg Historic District, is a one-and-one-half-story, wood-frame, weatherboard-clad dwelling constructed circa 1770 in the Tidewater tradition with some Georgian-style elements (Figure 3-23). The building features a wood-shingled, gabled roof pierced by gabled dormers and wood-frame windows. When it was last surveyed in 2006, the resource was recommended to be eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C due to its good condition and the retention of its historic fabric. The building has been well maintained and retains a high level of historic integrity, despite large additions to the rear because they were constructed in similar form and massing. As the building has not notably changed since it was last surveyed, it is recommended that the resource remains potentially eligible under Criterion C. It has no known association with any events or individuals of historical significance and is, therefore, recommended not eligible for the NRHP under Criteria A and B. The house has been previously identified as a contributing element of the Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132). As it continues to reflect the history of this area and retains a high level of historic integrity, it is recommended to remain a contributing resource within this district.

The Robert Adams Residence (111-0132-0458) in Fredericksburg, constructed circa 1891, is a two-story, Italianate-style dwelling covered by a hipped roof accented by a molded cornice featuring scrolled modillions and dentils (Figure 3-24). A prominent two-story, bay window embellished by a projecting cornice encompasses half of the primary elevation. The resource, which is located in the heart of the city on one of its main thoroughfares of Caroline Street, is an excellent representation of the Italianate style and has experienced limited alterations. The DC2RVA Team recommends the Robert Adams Residence (111-0132-0458) as potentially individually eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C as an outstanding example of this period and style of architecture at the local level. It is also recommended to remain a contributing resource within the Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132).

The Gilpin Court Apartment Complex (127-6883) in Richmond is an approximately 15-acre apartment complex built in 1942 by the Richmond Redevelopment and Housing Authority (RRHA) as subsidized, public housing (Figure 3-25). The RRHA, which was created by the Richmond City Council in 1940, “grew out of a national program launched by the federal government in the late 1930s to combat blight and to provide housing for many of the poor suffering from the Great Depression” (RRHA 2017). Although the City of Richmond has many of these “courts,” Gilpin Court is the oldest of them and was allegedly named for “Charles Sydney Gilpin, an African-American resident of Jackson Ward who became one of the country’s most significant stage actors of the 1920s” (Holmberg 2017). Given the resource’s association with Richmond’s African-American community, with the national subsidized housing movement from the Public Works Administration, and its role in the City’s overall city planning and social history, it is recommended that the resource is potentially eligible for listing in the NRHP under Criterion A. The complex has not been properly maintained and suffers from a loss of integrity as well as a constant threat of demolition. Therefore, it is recommended that the resource is not eligible for listing in the NRHP under Criterion C. Although the complex is named for a popular Richmond-native, African-American actor, there is no clear association to that person. It is not known that the complex is associated with any other significant person from our history; and for these reasons, the resource it recommended that the resource is not eligible for the NRHP under Criterion B.

The commercial building at 1601–1605 E. Grace Street in Richmond, locally known as Loving’s Produce Co. (127-0344-0102), is a three-story, eight-bay, commercial building constructed around 1870 with vernacular Italianate attributes (Figure 3-26). It was built during a period of tremendous regrowth in Richmond, when the industrial and commercial core of what is today the Shockoe Valley and Tobacco Row Historic District (127-0344) was rebuilt after Civil War-era devastation. This resource is one of the earliest, and few surviving, examples of the immediate post-war reconstruction in this area. It represents the efforts by residents to reclaim their city by establishing new businesses and constructing warehouses to provide goods and employment to the area. For its notable associations with the rebuilding of Shockoe Bottom, this resource is recommended potentially eligible under Criterion A at the local level. While the Loving name has been present in this area for generations, the family does not appear to have attained significance in their own right, thus it is recommended not eligible under Criterion B. The building is currently vacant, exhibits signs of deterioration, and has been notably modified over the decades; as such it is recommended not eligible under Criterion C. Loving’s Produce Co. is located within the NRHP-listed Shockoe Valley and Tobacco Row Historic District. It was built during the district’s period of significance (ca. 1870–1950) and represents architectural trends throughout the community. The resource is recommended to contribute to the eligibility of the Shockoe Valley and Tobacco Row Historic District.

The Philip Morris Operations Complex (127-5818) in Richmond is an industrial complex used for tobacco processing constructed between 1950 and 1980. The complex comprises multiple warehouses, office buildings, industrial structures, and manufacturing equipment. Notably, several of the buildings on the property were designed by famed New York-based architect, Ulrich Franzen, some of which embody the International and Post-Modern architectural styles and were potentially constructed less than 50 years ago (Figure3-27). Initial research indicates that Franzen was a famed German-born American architect known for his Modernist-style architectural designs (Harvard University Library 2000). Therefore, it is recommended that the resource is potentially eligible under Criterion C for listing in the NRHP and Criterion Consideration G. The resource is not known to be associated with a significant event or person from our history, and as such, is recommended not eligible for the NRHP under Criteria A and B. In conclusion, the Philip Morris Operations Complex (127-5818) is recommended as potentially eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C as an outstanding example of this period and style of architecture at the local level and Criterion Consideration G as a property that has achieved significance within the past 50 years.

The remaining 114 resources are recommended not eligible for the NRHP. The vast majority are twentieth-century residential buildings that represent post-war occupational booms of the D.C. to Richmond metro area; some ecclesiastic buildings, commercial structures, and industrial complexes can also be found among the collection. The oldest resource is the Dr. Charles Mortimer House at 216 Caroline Street in Fredericksburg (111-0132-0507), constructed in 1770; the latest-dating resource is the Double House in the Rosemont Historic District (100-0137-0272), built in 1985. Each of the resources was evaluated for its significance and integrity, and none exhibited notable merit to render a recommendation of individual eligibility.

More specifically, of the 114 resources, 13 were previously determined to be not eligible by the DHR but the determination occurred more than five years ago. As such, these resources were reevaluated to meet DHR requirements. It is recommended that the following 13 resources remain not eligible: 076-5212, 076-5213, 076-5215, 127-6623, 127-6658, 127-6224, 127-6322, 127-6323, 127-6335, 127-6336, 127-6233, 127-6234, and 127-6235.

Ten resources have been demolished since they were originally recorded. They were not evaluated for individual NRHP eligibility before they were removed. As they are no longer extant, it is recommended that these resources are not eligible for the NRHP: 076-5214, 127-0816-0028, 127-0816-0029, 127-0835, 127-0836, 127-0837, 127-0838, 127-0839, 127-6138, and 127-0796.

Sixty-seven additional resources not previously evaluated are recommended not eligible for individual NRHP listing, but are believed to contribute to a surrounding historic district. These resources include:

3.2 NEWLY RECORDED RESOURCES

Of the 352 resources documented during the current effort, 228 have not yet been recorded with the DHR (Table 3-2; Figures 3-28 through 3-51). Each of these newly recorded resources was evaluated for its potential to be individually eligible for the NRHP and potential contribution to surrounding historic districts, as applicable.

RESULTS

Three newly recorded resources are recommended to be individually potentially eligible for the NRHP: one is in Alexandria, one is in Fredericksburg, and one is in Ashland.

The East Rosemont Historic District (100-5341) in Alexandria comprises a later section of the Rosemont neighborhood (100-0137), an NRHP-listed, early-twentieth-century planned residential subdivision northwest of the Old and Historic District of Alexandria. The East Rosemont District includes a 30-acre area of working-class, single-family and multi-family dwellings constructed mostly between 1915 and 1955, composed of modest vernacular buildings aimed at the local railroad and industrial workers (Figure 3-52). The district is recommended potentially eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C at the local level as an excellent collection of early-twentieth-century residential architecture. It has no notable association with an important event in the development of the city or other activities that shaped the community (Criterion A), and no ties were found to link this district to a notable individual (Criterion B).

LOOKING NORTH ALONG MAPLE STREET

Shiloh Baptist Church (New Site) (111-0132-0147) is located at 521 Princess Anne Street in Fredericksburg. The resource is a two-story, multi-bay church constructed in the Colonial Revival style around 1896 (Figure 3-53). The congregation has played a significant role in the lives of African-American residents for over 150 years, remaining a cultural hub today. It is recommended potentially eligible for the NRHP under Criterion A and Criteria Consideration A. The church's form and materials are common to the era and area in which it was constructed, it is not the work of a master, and it is not known to be an outstanding example of its type or style. For these reasons, it is recommended not eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C. It has no known association with any individuals of historical significance and is therefore recommended not eligible under Criterion B. The church has been previously identified as a contributing element of the Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132). As it continues to reflect the history of this area and retains a high level of historic integrity, it is recommended to remain a contributing resource within this district.

SOUTHWEST ELEVATION

The building currently occupied by the Hanover County School Board (166-5073-0024) at 200 Berkley Street in Ashland is believed to have been the area's first high school for African-American students. The building is a two-story, multi-bay, educational building constructed around 1948 in the International style (Figure 3-54). Due to its association with African-American history in Ashland, the resource is recommended potentially eligible for the NRHP under Criterion A at the local level. This resource is a good example of the International style, a form not frequently seen in Ashland. Therefore, it is recommended that this resource be considered potentially eligible for the NRHP under Criterion C. It has no known association with any individuals of historical significance and is therefore recommended not eligible for the NRHP under Criterion B. This resource is located within the boundaries of the potentially-eligible Berkleytown Historic District (111-5073) and was constructed during its period of significance from 1910 to 1968. Therefore, the Hanover County School Board at 200 Berkley Street is recommended as contributing to the Berkleytown Historic District.

The remaining 225 resources are recommended not individually eligible for the NRHP. As with the previously recorded, not-eligible resources, an overwhelming majority of these properties are twentieth-century residential buildings with no notable significance at the local, state, or federal level. The oldest resource in this collection is the House at 211 Andrew Chapel Road (089-5605) in Stafford County, built in 1900. Several properties built around 1960 represent the later years in this grouping, including the House at 85 Morton Drive (089-5606) in Stafford County; Commercial Building on Compton Road (043-5890) and Commercial Building at 7135 Staples Mill Road (043-5899) in Henrico County; and Miller Total Clean, Inc. at 2212 Deepwater Terminal Road (127-7070) in Richmond.

Of the 225 resources recommended not individually eligible for the NRHP, 59 are recommended as contributing elements to their surrounding historic districts. They include:

The remaining 166 are not located in a historic district and/or do not contribute to the overall eligibility of a district. These resources are: 000-9818, 020-5783 through 020-5793, 042-5785 through 042-5790, 042-5791, 043-5865 through 043-5917, 043-6057, 043-6058, 076-5838, 076-5890, 076-5891, 089-5605, 089-5606, 100-5342 through 100-5344, 100-5363 through 100-5365, 111-5434, 111-5435, 127-7066 through 127-7078, 127-7143 through 127-7145, 127-7157 through 127-7171, and 166-5083 through 166-5130.

4 SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS

On behalf of the DRPT, Dovetail conducted a reconnaissance-level architectural survey of additional segments within the Preferred Alternative of the DC2RVA project. The project is being completed as DHR File Review #2014-0666. From 2014 through 2016, the DC2RVA team conducted architectural reconnaissance studies on all Project alternatives inclusive of all areas within 500 feet of the centerline of each alternative corridor (the project APE). This resulted in the recordation of thousands of buildings, structures, objects, and districts. Since these studies, engineering associated with the development of the Project alternatives has resulted in a slightly expanded LOD to accommodate road modifications, straightening curves, the addition of wyes, proposed station locations, parking areas, etc. The expanded LOD areas were not included in the original architectural reconnaissance study.

In total, the DC2RVA Project Team surveyed 352 historic architectural resources within the LOD area, including 124 previously recorded and 228 newly recorded. Two resources were previously listed on the National Register of Historic Places, and it is recommended that both remain listed: Rippon Lodge (076-0023) and the Town of Barton Heights Historic District (127-0816).

As a result of the current study, 11 properties are recommended to be potentially eligible for the NRHP based on the current survey: East Rosemont Historic District (100-5341), Chancellor House (111-0013/111-0132-0508), Hackley-Monroe House/James Monroe House/Joseph Jones House (111-0038/111-0132-0509), Dr. Charles Mortimer House at 213 Caroline Street (111-0067/111-0132-0505), the 1770 House (111-0132-0126), Shiloh Baptist Church (New Site) (111-0132-0147), Robert Adams Residence (111-0132-0458), Loving's Produce Co. (127-0344-0102), Philip Morris Operations Complex (127-5818), Gilpin Court Apartment Complex (127-6883), and Hanover County School Board (166-5073-0024). One resource, Hoopers (042-0556) was not accessible during the current survey, thus it is recommended that further study be completed to determine eligibility.

The remaining 338 resources are recommended not individually eligible for the NRHP, although 126 are recommended to be contributing elements to surrounding historic districts, including the Rosemont Historic District (100-0137), East Rosemont Historic District (100-5341), Boundary Markers of the Original District of Columbia 000-0022, Fredericksburg Historic District (111-0132), Berkleytown Historic District (166-5073), Laurel Industrial School Historic District (043-0292), Town of Barton Heights Historic District (127-0816), Seaboard Air Line Railroad Corridor (127-5271), and the RF&P Railroad Corridor/Historic District (500-0001).

Table 4-1 contains summary data on all of the 352 recorded properties.
